DETAILED ACTION

This office action is in response to amendment filed May 24, 2007. Applicant amended claims 1, 10, 22, 25 and 26 and cancelled claim 24.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-23 and 25-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Chan et al. (US 2002/0068585).

Regarding claims 1-6, 9-23, 26-28, Chan teaches a mobile marketing server (fig. 4-7), capable of communication with a plurality of mobile user terminals (see fig. 2, [0026] – [0033]), generating content for distribution to plurality of user mobile terminal based on action log which includes a positional information, amount of time and attribute of the user and a plurality of pre-established distribution rules; a position detection means ([0031] – [0033]); user terminal sends its characteristic identifier; where in the user terminal comprises a display unit; the server comprising of position detecting means (see [0017] – [0111]); wherein the attribute includes age, gender and identification of the user (see [0054]).

Regarding claims 7 and 8, Chan teaches the server managing an action log, including positions of the user terminal and time at which the user terminal is at said position; the server analyzing a behavior of the user terminal based on the managed action log and sending the analysis result to analysis terminal (see fig. 7-10, [0141] – [0147]).

Claims 1-23 and 25-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Bandera et al. (US 6,332,127).

Regarding claim 25, Bandera teaches an analysis request notification means, which notifies a mobile marketing server of an analysis request (effectiveness of the advertisement); and an analysis result receiving means, which receives analysis results sent from said mobile marketing server and displays said results on a display unit; wherein the analysis results are based upon analysis items (advertised item) and analysis conditions (time and location) that are input from the analysis terminal (see col. 5 lines 13 to col. 6 line 67, col. 7 line 45-20, col. 8 lines 1-21). Displaying information (result) is inherent feature of the computer terminal accessing the database.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-23 and 25-28 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
